

In Your Face

Never be late to meetings again!

PRESS RELEASE

In Your Face 1.7: Launch Announcement

Berlin, Germany – May 18, 2020

The new version of In Your Face now detects video conferences in calendar events and provides a dedicated button to directly jump into the call with one click.

In Your Face is a tool for those of us who tend to overlook the macOS calendar notifications or forget about meetings altogether. It interrupts your workflow when it is time to go to a meeting by displaying a full screen reminder.

In Your Face is available on the Mac App Store as a one-time purchase.

Key Information

App Name	In Your Face
Launch Date	Version 1.0: August 23, 2019 Version 1.7: May 18, 2020
Pricing Model	One-time purchase
Price	$2.99
Distribution	Mac App Store
Availability	macOS 10.11
Website	https://www.inyourface.app
Twitter	https://twitter.com/martinhoeller
Press Kit	https://www.inyourface.app/press

In Your Face's Story

The app was inspired by a former coworker who would always be late to our meetings. He was so focused on his work that he constantly would miss calendar notifications. At a company outing – after more than one beer – I said to him “You really need a reminder in your face to be on time. I’m going to make an app especially for you.” This is how In Your Face was born.

Features and Media

In Your Face was featured in MacRumors’ “Five Mac Apps Worth Checking Out - September 2019” (Source).

In Your Face was featured by Apple on the Mac App Store editorial category “Apps and Games We Love Right Now” in May 2020.

About the Creator

In Your Face was designed and programmed by Martin Höller. Martin is a freelance iOS and macOS developer and consultant based in Berlin, Germany. He began his professional software development career in 2006 and specialized in Apple platforms since then.

Website: <https://www.martinhoeller.net>

Other Apps: App Store Page